13 Terms and conditions

Scope of Kadji Care

Kadji Care is a tertiary care and rehabilitation service provider. Admission is for personal care, assisted living, rehabilitation and recovery support, and not for primary medical treatment.

Personal care will be planned after assessment and discussion with concerned team members. Decisions regarding type of care and resident routine will be made by Kadji healthcare team members.

Food and beverages will be provided as per Kadji's in-house menu. Outside food is not encouraged; packaged food may be brought with prior communication.

The need for physician consultation will be assessed by the medical or paramedical team and arranged as required.

Family members are expected to participate in the care and rehabilitation process whenever required.

No family member is permitted to stay overnight with a resident unless approved by management.

Admission, communication and visits

Admission is determined solely by the admission committee, which may refuse admission based on assessment, history or other relevant factors.

All official communication between Kadji Care and the guardian shall be through the registered email address. Email sent to the registered address will be treated as delivered and received.

For care or rehabilitation concerns, family members must email info@kadji.co.in within 24 hours of the concern arising.

Family members and visitors must visit only during allocated visiting hours and record their entry at reception or in the visitor register.

Kadji Care does not restrict which family members may visit. If the family wishes to restrict any visitor, it is the family's responsibility to communicate and manage this.

Relatives staying abroad or unavailable for physical joint review must communicate with Kadji authority by email at least once a month.

Service limitations and exclusions

Kadji Care does not provide primary medical treatment. Residents requiring primary treatment should seek care from a hospital or primary care physician before considering admission.

If complications arise, Kadji's physician or medical officer will discuss the course of action with the guardian. If hospitalization is required, the team will assist with transfer to a suitable healthcare facility.

Kadji follows a shared care model. Residents are cared for alongside other residents, and dedicated one-on-one caregiver allocation is not included unless separately arranged and charged.

Caregivers and nurses may attend to more than two residents during a shift and should not be treated as dedicated to one resident throughout the shift.

Dedicated caregiver allocation, where available, may require additional fees and time for recruitment, training and deployment.

Kadji may discharge a resident if the resident, family member, relative or friend is disturbing, aggressive, abusive, violent, suicidal, non-cooperative or otherwise unsuitable for continued care.

Safety, falls and behavioural risks

Kadji Care prioritizes fall prevention and uses safety measures such as handrails, non-slip flooring, staff training and regular safety checks. However, falls may still occur due to resident condition, unforeseen circumstances or accidents.

Fall-related injuries, including fractures or other complications, may occur in old age despite preventive efforts. Kadji Care shall not be liable for such incidents where a fall results in complications.

Wandering, absconding, suicidal tendencies, violent behaviour, suspiciousness and similar symptoms may occur in geriatric or psychiatric cases. Kadji Care and its employees shall not be held responsible for such incidents, and the organization may discharge such residents.

Kadji shall not be responsible for incidents that may result in disease, injury, death or other physical harm to a resident.

Resident adjustment, family instructions and personal preferences

During the initial adjustment period, residents and staff may need time to understand each other's routines, preferences, communication style and care needs.

Understanding a resident's medical history and conditions may take time through assessments, review of medical records and consultation with primary healthcare providers.

Residents may experience homesickness after admission. Kadji encourages open communication and family involvement to support the transition.

Kadji shall consider official instructions only from the designated primary guardian and may not be able to act on differing opinions from multiple family members.

Meals are planned to meet nutritional and dietary requirements. While preferences may be considered where possible, Kadji may not be able to accommodate every individual taste preference.

Items, belongings and assistive devices

Family members must provide dedicated wheelchairs, walkers, commode chairs or other assistive devices required by the resident to avoid cross infection and ensure suitability.

No valuable belongings should be brought for the resident. Kadji Care shall not be responsible for loss of electronic instruments or other belongings.

Families may purchase private utility items for residents if they do not wish to share items such as wheelchairs, commode chairs, bedsheets, furniture, electronics, water bottles or cutlery.

In case of damage to equipment, furniture or other utility items, the family shall bear the cost of repair, replacement or breakdown.

Financial terms

Monthly fees and expenditure are payable upon invoice generation. Invoices are generated from the first day of the month and calculated from the admission date as applicable.

Fees are charged monthly in advance and are non-refundable under any circumstances except in the event of a resident's death, where applicable as per policy.

In case of voluntary termination by the guardian, charges for the break period will not be refunded for monthly packages.

Payment delayed by more than 5 days may attract additional charges of ₹2,000 per day from the 7th day onwards.

Two invoices may be created: one for Kadji services and another for surgical items, medicines, consumables and other expenses.

If the family chooses to provide consumables and these are not delivered on time, Kadji may use store items and charge them in the invoice; such items will not be replaced.

There will be a 12% price hike after every 12 months of stay. If a resident is discharged and readmitted within 12 months, the total stay may be counted cumulatively for pricing purposes.

Cheque bounce charges shall be borne by the payer.

Deposit amounts vary by package. Any applicable deposit refund will be processed within 30 days after adjustment of pending dues.

Lab charges, doctor visits, ambulance services and similar vendor-billed services may attract additional taxable charges when Kadji directly invoices or settles payment with the vendor.

Hospitalization, temporary discharge and emergency transfer

In an emergency or critical situation, Kadji Care will assist in shifting the resident to a nearby or assigned ICU or healthcare facility after consulting the primary guardian or available family relative.

Hospital expenses are the responsibility of the family, and Kadji Care shall not be responsible for such expenses.

During hospitalization, family members must accompany the patient. If no family member is available, additional support charges of ₹1,000 per shift may apply for food, salary and transportation.

The resident's package will remain active during hospitalization unless the family gives further instructions.

If a resident takes temporary discharge and wishes to keep the bed on hold, the bed will be treated as occupied and the package will remain active.

Public holidays and availability of therapy/care assistance

During public holidays, therapy sessions shall not be conducted. Due to absenteeism or restricted availability of team members on such days, care assistance may be provided only with available and restricted resources.
